ABOUT US

Dear Cigar Enthusiasts,

It is with immense pride and dedication that I share with you the journey of our family in the tobacco industry, rooted deep in the heart of the Jamastran Valley, Honduras since the 1960s. My father, Julio Eiroa, a Cuban exile and tobacco farmer built his tobacco empire by being a perfectionist in his farm operations and building successful brands during the tobacco boom. Camacho, La Fontana and Baccarat were sold in 2008. In 2015, at the request of my father, I returned to our homeland to uphold the esteemed legacy of Julio R. Eiroa's tobacco empire.

Our family-run enterprise stands as a beacon of excellence, committed to the highest standards of quality and consistency. From crop to shop, every aspect of our operation is meticulously managed, ensuring that each cigar embodies the essence of our heritage. That attitude has made us a leading Premium Cigar Manufacturer.

At the JRE Tobacco Farm, we remain faithful custodians of the original Corajo seed, a cherished inheritance from Cuba over fifty years ago. Together, my father and I craft cigars that are rich in flavor, catering to aficionados of all preferences. With the introduction of our three new brands—Aladino, Rancho Luna, and Tatascan—we continue to showcase the unparalleled excellence of our tobacco products.

We have become specialized in growing all sorts of tobacco varieties. We grow the Authentic Corajo, Cameroon, Connecticut, Habano, Sumatra amongst other challenging tobacco varieties to grow.

As we embrace the dawn of a new era, marked by the integration of my three daughters into our family's lineage, we embark on the next chapter of our legacy. The fusion of tradition and innovation promises to yield exciting ventures that honor our past while embracing the future.

Our passion, perseverance, and unwavering work ethic are woven into every leaf we cultivate, every cigar we age, and every box we manufacture. It is our sincerest hope that you derive as much pleasure from savoring our cigars as we derive from crafting them for you.

With warm regards,

Justo M. Eiroa

COROJO

100% Authentic Corojo from the JRE Tobacco Farm

Aladino is a tribute to the Golden Era of Cuban cigars (1947–1961). At the heart of Aladino is the legendary Cuban seed Corojo, grown at the JRE Tobacco Farm. This “puro” takes us back to origins, reminiscent of the original flavors in old-school Cuban cigars. Available in traditional and modern sizes, Aladino caters to both classic and contemporary smokers. With its rich aroma, bold flavors, and timeless character, Aladino delivers an unforgettable cigar experience.

CLASSIC

A cigar that highlights our Honduran Habano

The Aladino Classic is a medium cigar with traces of our Corojo and dominated by our Habano smoothness. This blend is perfectly balanced; you can expect to taste more notes of brown sugar, light cedar and coffee. This is perfect for smokers that enjoy mild to medium aromatic cigars.

CAMEROON

African roots, Cuban tradition.

Each cigar gives you the opportunity to distinguish our Authentic Honduran-grown Cameroon on the Aladino. This line uses the same Authentic Corojo binder and filler as our Aladino Corojo but its Cameroon wrapper adds a natural sweetness to it. The sensational flavor of this cigar is what sets this medium-bodied blend apart.

VINTAGE SELECTION

Handmade from select vintage tobacco.

The Aladino Vintage selection is a medium blend cigar that offers a robust yet smooth smoking experience. It is constructed with our signature Corojo and Habano tobacco but as opposed to our Corojo line, it is dominated by the flavors of aged Habano. We describe this as leathery yet creamy at the same time. It can be enjoyed by beginners and longtime smokers. Expect to encounter milder experiences in our larger ring gage vitolas and a distinct boldness in our Elegante.

FUMA NOCHE

Ignite your night.

Fuma Noche is all about embodying the essence of nighttime revelry and social enjoyment. The blend is rich, intense and dense, geared for those who seek a fuller-bodied smoke. The line comes in a new slick black box with a piano finish, metallic lettering. It embodies the elegance and charm associated with the Aladino brand in a more modern interpretation. On the inside, there's the iconic Aladino image, now monochrome, and for the first time we have dressed the cigars with a foot band. The look, feel, and richness of Fuma Noche is sure to make this cigar part of any aficionado's weekly rotation.

85 Aniversario Reserva

Julio R. Eiroa's Golden Ride.

After years of perfecting his craft, Julio Eiroa unveils the 85th Anniversary Cigar—made from the rare Pinareño seed. This true Cuban varietal was brought to Honduras by Tino Agurdin in 1960; however it is notoriously difficult to grow and susceptible to disease. The blend is a tribute to Julio's lifelong pursuit of excellence and the result is highly aromatic experience. True to Julio's nostalgic style, the vibrant yellow box features his classic 1961 Buick, a nod to his Cuban roots. Availability is limited to Reserva accounts. SUMATRA

Aladino's first Sumatra blend.

Launched in 2023 as a limited edition, the Aladino Sumatra shines light on a younger side to Aladino. With the fourth generation getting more involved it features a more modern play on box design. This cigar is full of complexity in flavor yet totally balanced. The dark Sumatra wrapper is grown at our farm and we've blended it with other tobacco varieties of ours to create a mildly sweet, bolder and punchier blend. You can expect earthy notes with a natural semi-sweet sweetness of baker's chocolate and cedar.

RANCHO LUNA

BY ALADINO

The Rancho Luna brand was inspired by the spirit of escaping at Rancho Jamastran, reimagined to meet the demand for a widely accessible, high-quality cigar in our portfolio. It's a cigar designed to provide a simple, everyday smoke. It is a smooth and flavorful cigar made with leftover trimmings of the Aladino line.

This line is available by the bundle in one vitola and two varieties of wrapper. Its a practical, approachable and reliable offer that saves aficionados the hassle of having to think too much when craving a premium cigar experience but don't necessarily have the time for it.

ON THE PALATE

Four terroirs in one: precious woods, leather and warm spice.

The couple's journey into cigar making was anything but linear. After meeting and marrying while working in the wine industry in Arizona, they settled in Playa del Carmen rather than returning to the United States. Their thirst for adventure took them across the Atlantic to open an eco-lodge in Ghana, and later to Central America, where they organised expeditions to remote Mayan sites.

It was in Nicaragua that their path turned. Fascinated by the tobacco fields, James learned blending from a local expert, Armando Leiva, and began crafting his own cigars for their excursions. What began as an interest became a calling: Black Label, a handcrafted brand focused on small-batch production and blends tailored to each vitola. Beyond craftsmanship, the house is known for a strong visual identity drawn from South and Central American religious iconography — Salvation, Bishop's Blend, Deliverance — with bolder editions under the Black Works Studio label.

GENEVA

The Foundation for a New Concept

At the beginning of the century El Septimo set out on a life-long project: to move away from the traditions that limit the quality of the world's most important brands, and to offer something new — the best cigars in the world, developed by connoisseurs and master blenders.

Years of research and visits to arable land around the world led the team to create its own supply from its own plantation, in the lush mountains of San José, Costa Rica. The tropical climate, an altitude of 6,500 feet and fertile volcanic soil make the terroir.

With more than 35 blends, El Septimo cigars are hand-rolled with 100% long filler using the traditional Entubar method under strict quality control. Oscuro wrappers are grown in a high-altitude proprietary process, giving a silky texture and a rich, deep shade. Collections differ by blend, by the age of the tobacco — seven to fifteen years — and by the number of fillers used, between three and five. The cigars are completely organic, with no preservatives or chemicals added, and free of nitrosamines, tars and impurities.

EUROPEAN DISTRIBUTION

Bonded33 holds El Septimo stock in bonded and duty-paid storage in Belgium and handles EU Track & Trace, EU-CEG registration and market compliance on the brand's behalf.

15 YEAR AGED TOBACCO

Offering cigar aficionados the quintessential range of flavours, the Zaya Collection is blended from a selection of the highest quality tobaccos, aged up to fifteen years and rolled with five fillers – which is why this Collection sits at slightly larger ring gauges. The perfection of the line lies in the rigorous selection of its wrappers: shiny, dark and stain-free. Medium and full-bodied cigars carry an intense leather aroma with a balanced strength, ranging from a sweet marzipan-vanilla blend to a bitter roast of walnuts.

“Tobacco is the plant that converts thoughts into dreams.”

Known for its vintage tobacco, the Luxus Collection consists of tobacco lines aged ten years and matured for a year or less. It holds some of El Septimo's best sellers, from two-inch twenty-minute smokes to tiny torpedos and baby cigarillos. Cigars have a refined aroma with a velvety smoke and are known for their oily, supple dark wrappers. Draws are full and generous with an easy light-up — in short, sportier cigars for experienced enthusiasts.

The Emperor Collection, shown left to right by size. Photography supplied by El Septimo Geneva.

5 YEAR AGED TOBACCO

Our first line of Connecticut wrappers, dedicated to the world's most sovereign rulers, including a limited-edition crossover with the King Sargon blend of the Gilgamesh Collection — King Sargon being the world's first-ever emperor. The Collection is lighter-bodied, smoother and creamier than the Sacred Arts launch, in comparable sizes and rings, offered in Connecticut and Maduro wrappers.

"The cigar smoker is a calm man, slow and sure of his wind."

— MARC ALYN

10 YEAR AGED TOBACCO

One of El Septimo's newer lines, blended for women after intensive market research into flavour, size, strength, smoothness, aroma and combustion. The Collection offers light to mild products, as the lightest leaf of each vintage is chosen. Flavours shift as the cigar burns — woody and intense with a distinct oak and tea blend, moving to a mild caramel sweetness that never overpowers.

"Life is short. Take the trip. Eat the cake. Smoke the cigar."

— DEMI MOORE

7 YEAR AGED TOBACCO

El Septimo's first 50-gauge series, named for the oldest story written into existence and the historical records of the Assyrian King Gilgamesh. Offering both medium and full-bodied cigars, these burns last a long time while keeping a milder light-up than the traditional El Septimo cigar — a gradual pace, with the balance between thickness and length held exactly.

"There are two things a man never forgets — his first love and his first cigar."

— JOHN BAIN

7 YEAR AGED TOBACCO

The Travel Time Collection pays tribute to the most famous cities in the world. The cigars are wrapped in dark, oily Maduro capes and blended with a complex balance of tobacco. Medium-bodied, they undergo a lengthy fermentation that darkens and flavours the leaf, giving an intense colour and a soft, light sweetness with a woody fragrance and a spicy finish that holds an unblemished cover over years of ageing.

"Cigarettes are a habit. Cigars are an event."

— BRAD PAISLEY

Alejandro Suárez Labastida has become one of the leading figures in premium cigars in Mexico. He entered the trade in 1997, when he identified an opportunity around cigar accessories for a demanding international clientele. That move led to a decisive commercial relationship with the Fuente & Newman family, making him a strategic partner in the Mexican distribution of houses such as Arturo Fuente, Cuesta Rey, Diamond Crown and Opus X.

In 2023 he founded SLABASTIDA, a brand that pays tribute to his Basque roots while asserting a resolutely modern identity in the world of the Mexican cigar. Through this house he sets out to combine heritage and innovation, tradition and modernity, and to position the premium Mexican cigar as an international benchmark.

SLABASTIDA embodies a clear vision: to celebrate the nobility of Mexican tobacco, to magnify its terroir, and to offer discerning enthusiasts an authentic, elegant experience rooted deeply in the art of cigar living.
